Executive Biography

Josh Stern

Founder and Principal Partner

Josh Stern founded Current Energy in 2001 after identifying the forthcoming opportunities presented by deregulation that would take effect Jan. 1, 2002. Stern's mission was to build a company that would help business owners reduce energy consumption and save money on energy bills.

As a founding principal of the Power Brokers division of Current Energy, Stern takes a hands-on approach to meeting clients' needs. Under his direction, Power Brokers retains its status as one of the largest brokers of electricity in Texas, having executed more than $750 million in energy transactions.

Stern's previous experiences as a business leader include the creation of Collegiate Marketing Group, a publishing company that produced more than one million publications annually.

He holds a bachelor's degree in communications from the University of Arizona.
